Using materials like as chain-link fencing, cinder block, exposed real wood, and corrugated metallic, he changed an ordinary suburban house into a declaration of his artistic viewpoint and an illustration of his playful, almost surreal style.. There can be a funnel-shaped staircase that qualified prospects down into a great atrium from which art galleries of different sizes and designs extend.. The irregular group of tilting, curvilinear structures is certainly trademark Gehry, but he makes allusions to even more traditional German architecture with mansard roofs and limestone facadés.
